

Relationships within Ecosystems

organisms	resources	pollution	interacting
human impact	physical	energy	secondary ecosystems	each other	primary	survival
producers	competition	consumers	non-living
collaboration	survive	pollination	parenting

Food chain - estuary

Fill the Gaps

- An ecosystem is formed by _____ in a particular environment _____ with one another and with their _____ environment.
- Organisms can be identified as _____ consumers, _____ consumers, decomposers or _____.
- Food chains show the flow of _____ between living things in an _____.
- Living things are dependent on _____ and on _____ factors for their _____.
- All organisms depend on other organisms to _____, and this interdependency includes _____, predation, _____, parasitism, _____, reproduction and _____.
- Ecosystems are intricate and are particularly sensitive to _____ including _____ and over use of _____.